THANSGIVING SERMON.

Z E C H A R I A H viii. 5.

— THE STREETS OF THE CITY SHALL BE FULL OF BOYS AND GIRLS PLAYING IN THE STREETS THEREOF.

IN this Prophecy (my beloved Brethren,) which consists of a variety of predictive serious matter, we find especially recorded the return of the Jews unto Jerufalem (after seventy years captivity in Babylon); and the mercy of God, towards that Nation; wherein is set forth most pathetically, his Lovingkindness to his People; and the favour which He sheweth to a repenting City, — whose streets shall be filled with Boys and Girls, playing in the streets thereof.

From

From this blessed promise to the Jews, made aforetime of God through the mouth of his holy prophet, the present joyful Occasion naturally leadeth us, to be thankful; to bless the name of God for his mercies vouchsafed unto Us, in that the Day of Mourning, (the late bloody, extended, and expensive War) is now over; and the season of Prosperity (the present necessary and saving Peace) is at hand; — wherein another scene of Affairs taketh place; and nothing is to be heard (or should be heard) but Praise and Thanksgiving: — which, of all religious Duties, is the most pleasing and acceptable Service, we can at any time possibly, render unto God, — who willeth not, that we offer unto Him the flesh of Bulls, or blood of Goats, — but Praise and Thanksgiving: — the reasonableness of which, together with its Use; and our Obligations to it, will appear chiefly from hence, — that it is a debt of Nature, as well as a profitable, and a pleasurable Service.

The original design of making man (we know, according to Scripture) was, that he might praise and laud his Creator; and when the world was all framed, put together, and finished, — God said; Let us make man in our Image, after our own Likeness! intimating the want of a new Creature not yet formed, to behold its Beauty, and do honour to its Builder: — For, although the Things already made, did every one of them in some sense declare, the Glory of God, — and shew forth his handy-work; yet, the glory was defective, and the praise imperfect: — wherefore God, did not end his work, 'till the sixth Day was over, — wherein He created man, to supply that Want.

To him; (God's best, his noblest, and most glorious Work) was originally then given, the full Dominion over all Things in Earth, Air, and Sea; and he was placed in the world to contemplate, to meditate upon, and adore the divine Wisdom, — to offer Incense and Praise, and give Thanks: — So that, the Reason with which our minds are furnished; — the faculties we enjoy above all other Creatures, if they do their office at all, are not darkened and confused, — cannot but apprehend God as the loveliest, the best, and most perfect Being; and admire his perfections, — which is strictly meant by praise; — wherein the first Thing observable, is; — that it is usually expressed in such Terms, and by such Words as signify our owning, our acknowledging and declaring his Goodness, — and the Wonders He doth for the Children of Men.

Thus it was that holy David, and all the Saints have been always used to praise God, — by confessing to Him, acknowledging and setting forth his Name, his Glory, his Wisdom, and his Power, — by daily praising Him with joyful Lips; by ascribing unto the Lord, Worship and Strength: So that, whoever will perform this Duty aright, — must, as They did, confess unto the Lord, and praise his holy Name, by telling of his Salvation from Day to Day, — declaring his honour unto the Heathen, and his wonders unto all People: — For by the word of the Lord, were the Heavens made; and all the Host of them, by the breath of his Mouth; — the Earth also, and all Things therein.

Moreover, it is the voice of Nature, (as far as Gratitude itself is so) that the good Things we receive from God, the blessings which are daily showered down upon us, from the highest Heavens, — should be all sent back thither, in Praise and Thanksgiving; as the Rivers run into the Sea, and return thither, unto the Place from whence they came: — when, who so is wise, will ponder these Things; and They shall understand the Lovingkindness of the Lord.

Let us therefore, (my Friends,) on this Day especially, which the Lord hath made, be joyful and glad in it! nor ever cease to act our parts, in being grateful to praise God in the Sanctuary, and proclaim his Goodness towards us, — the wonders also, which He every where doth for the children of men: — since This was the very end of our Creation; and the purpose, the chief purpose of our being sent into this world.

Had man, I trow, who was at first created in Innocence, continued stedfast in that happy state, nor had passed or transgressed the bounds which God had set, — nor broken his holy Covenant, — his worship and his work had been only praise, continually; and nothing had been left for him to do, beyond the enjoying perfect good: — For, in Paradise originally, was nothing but Praise; neither shall there be any thing else, in Heaven, — where,

(All that we know, of what They do above,
Is that they sing, rejoice, give thanks, and love.) —

But, being now fallen from that blessed state of Happiness, — having contracted Guilt, and forfeited our Right to the divine Mercies, — Prayer and Confession are become necessary to sue out our Pardon, to help our Infirmities, to blot out the Handwriting that is against us; to retrieve our Loss, and to restore us to God's Favour; — who, upon confession of our Sins and Repentance, is faithful and just to forgive us our Sins, and to cleanse us from all Unrighteousness; to restore us to that happy state, wherein we shall be able to live for ever, without them.

Thus were we originally, All created of God, without want, and without sin, — to his Praise, and to his Glory; — and, it will be the end of every righteous man, whose Death is so greatly coveted of the wicked, to praise and glorify God hereafter, in the highest Heavens; — which, as it is very natural to desire Happiness, we cannot but wish at least, and implore surely, that it may finally be all our portions, to sing praises unto our God, and rejoice ever before Him in his House, where there are many Mansions: — For whether there be Confession, that shall cease; whether there be Prayer, that shall end; — but Praise and Thankf-

Thanksgiving laſt for ever:* — The fiſt verily, are temporary, — the work of Sinners; whilſt the laſt, is everlaſting, — and the employ of Angels: — and the matter, about which it is converſant, is always the perfections of the Deity, and the divine Nature.

Herein too, is ſhewn the excellence of this Duty, and the preeminence it hath over all other parts of Chriſtian Worſhip; — which leads me further, to ſhew the pleaſure and ſatisfaction there is in performing it; what a good thing it is to ſing praises unto our God, — eſpecially at a Time like the preſent, — when, we have ſo much reaſon to be glad, to rejoice, and give Thanks: — For, though our Enemies did greatly moleſt and trouble us, (ſome of whom, we too lightly regarded) by harralling us in all Quarters the moſt diſtant, even in the East, and particularly in the West, as well as nearer Home, — yea, and at Home; yet God was pleaſed to be with us, to fight

* The honourable Robert Boyle, Eſq; in his Theological Works, obſerves, — that ſome men indeed, ſay more than others, — but none enough on a Subject, the ſpirits of juſt men made perfect, cannot celebrate. Perhaps, we may think, that becauſe our praises exceed any other Subject, they are worthy of God; but our expreſſions at the beſt, can but expreſs our conceptions, which being notions of finite Creatures, cannot reach what is infinite: and though inflamed by that inaccessible Light inhabited by Him, we adore; yet our expreſſions extend no further than our Devotion, declaring how much we honour Him, — not, what He is; — which none but an infinite Intellect, can do.

However, to praise God, is a Debt which will continue as long as the Obligations, — and can never be paid for want of Coin of juſt Value.

fight for us, and hath saved us, by making them finally, to be at peace with us: — who formerly said, — and by implication certainly, doth to us, as to the Jews, — that there shall yet be old men and women in the streets of our Jerusalem, and every man with his staff in his hand for very age; — that, the streets too of our Cities, shall be filled with Boys and Girls playing in the streets thereof.

That it is the most pleasing part, (I need not say,) of our Devotions at all Times, to be thankful; — whilst the best, the fittest, the most proper One surely, to praise God, is, when we are merry, when we have so much cause to be so, — (as on this Day) — to express our mirth solemnly, with an awful reverence and pious Hallelujahs proceeding always from a lively and cheerful Temper, — whose whole composition is such, as throughout bespeaks Ease and Delight: — and should indeed, the truly Thankful, be restrained — should They, whose Hearts overflow with gratitude, be prevented shewing it, — it would be Pain doubtless, and Grief to them: whilst then, shall their souls be satisfied as with marrow and fatness, when their mouth praiseth God, with joyful Lips.

O praise the Lord, saith the holy David; for it is a good Thing to sing praises unto our God: — yea, a joyful and pleasant Thing it is, to be thankful: — It gladdens and improves all our Faculties, and sets the soul on work, to attain perfection: — It promotes in us, an exquisite and lively sense of the divine Honour, — and an high Indignation of mind at every Thing, that profanes it: — For, what we value, that we love; what we love, that we delight in; nor can ever bear with patience, to hear or see it slighted, or abused.

Thus, our frequent attention to the divine Attributes, whilst contemplating God's perfections, — will discover to us, our own weakness and unworthiness, — by causing us to see and feel, that we are but Vanity; — that verily, all that cometh, is so, — which is an excellent, a most useful Lesson for those to learn, who are most apt to be presumptuous, and vain, and despise others; who especially, when some little outward privileges distinguish them from their Brethren, their Fellow-creatures, and Fellow-christians, — fancy themselves wiser, and every way better, in their own conceits, — than seven men, that can render a reason: Whilst, by considering God's excellencies and perfections, their proud stomachs must buckle to; and they will learn, not to think of themselves more highly, than they ought to think; — but to think soberly; and make a God of nothing else but the One eternal, invisible, immortal Being.

Upon the whole, — this Duty recommends itself to us, by several great and peculiar privileges, in that, it is the end of our Existence, — of our being made and created; the rule and end of our Nature; the most excellent part of our religious worship: — and endureth for ever.

Where

Wherefore They, who live in the neglect of it, — whether secretly, or in publick, — by no means answer God's end, in making them; — which must needs be a great offence unto Him, — to provoke Him to dash them in pieces; as uselefs vessels, — and destroy them.

Whereas They, who are always praising God, — are always doing the work He made them for, and sent them into the world about; and so, always please Him: — nor is there any Thing pleaseth God so much, as for a man to thank, and praise Him: — Whoso offereth me Thanks, and Praise, saith He, — he glorifieth me.

Neither do any live in his Favour, and under his Protection so much as They, who are always thankful, and praise the Name of God not only with their Lips, but in their Lives.

And if Moses, and Israel, and Deborah, and Hannah, and Jehoshaphat, praised God for particular Instances of his Mercy, — the return of Peace, surely, claimeth Ours; — that we were not consumed, — both We, and our King.

Blessed be God then, let us All say, — who hath not cast out our repeated Fastings and Prayers, and Supplications for Deliverance, but delayed only to answer them, 'till a Day of Salvation, and an acceptable Time, which is now bappily come, — and the Hour of Prosperity, (we trust) with it, — wherein the streets of our City, of every large Town, and small Village in Great Britain, are full of Boys and Girls playing in the streets thereof; — where shortly, our Hope is, that Corn shall make the young Men cheerful; and new Wine the Maids, — in the time of Vintage and Harvest. (Zech. ix. 17.)

But, let us All, (I beseech you,) take especial care to make the proper uses of this, and every other Blessing! In the midst of so much real Joy and Gladness, let us learn to be moderate, meeke, and prudent; to serve God faithfully, lustily, and with a good Courage! and love one another sincerely! when, the wicked shall cease from troubling us, — and we shall not be ashamed probably hereafter, to speak again with our Enemies in the Gate: — For God indeed, (we know and feel,) hath done great Things for us, whereof we have just reason to rejoice, — though He hath deservedly, very lately humbled us, for our Transgressions,) — and our Obligations to Him, are of the highest Nature: — yet, should we be tempted not to persevere in our Duty to Him, should we not suffer his Goodness to lead us to Repentance, — our last Estate, our latter End will be worse than the beginning, — even All that is past: — so that, we may expect nothing less than that He should make us, a bye word among the Nations, that are round about us, — if not in the East, in the West, in the North, and in the South: and as remarkable Instances in future, of his Wrath and Vengeance, — as we have in former Wars, been particularly Victorious, — and the visible Objects of his Love and Favour.

Now, the only Terms verily, on which we may reasonably expect the continuance of his Mercies, (of his Loving-kindness towards us, and particularly that, we Here celebrate in his holy Temple, the return of Peace again, to our almost ruined Country, — to our distracted, and sadly impoverished One, —) are our breaking our Covenant with Death, and our fatal Agreement with Hell; — our performing our Engagements with God, which we All entered into, at our Baptism; our denying ungodliness and worldly Lusts; our living soberly, righteously, and godly in this present world, — by turning unto Him, who ought to be feared; and doing works meet for Repentance; by seconding our daily Prayers with our constant endeavours, to fulfil his Will; — That his great and powerful Name may be hallowed, his glorious Kingdom advanced, and his just Rule over us, and all Mankind, be as faithfully submitted to, and his every Law observed Here, on Earth, — as by the holy Angels in Heaven; — by loving moreover, one another other without Dissimulation: — Since; if God hath made Us, to be the Objects of his Love; why should we not be so, of one another's? And, there is no Fear in Love.

Let us however, (I pray,) be as well wise as Serpents, as we should be harmless as Doves! and in this our Day, carefully mark Those, who cause Divisions, and Offences still among us, to distract us, if not to ruin us; (notwithstanding it is impossible, but that Offences will come; —) and if possible, as much as lieth in us, let us carefully avoid them! Let us suppress too, all those irregular, headstrong humours and passions within ourselves, or that we daily see in others, — which at any Time must dispose Us to be easily wrought upon by the Arts and Contrivances of the Proud, the Ambitious, the Crafty and Cunning Ones among us, — who would fain direct us, lord it over us, and undo us: — Yea, let us put on, I beseech you, as the Elect of God, holy and beloved — bowels of mercy, kindness, meekness, longsuffering, — forbearing one another, and forgiving one another, if any man have a Quarrel against any; even as Christ forgave Us, so, also do We! — having within ourselves effectually, that Charity, which is kind, which envyeth not, — vaunteth not itself, — is not puffed up, — seeketh not her own, — is not easily provoked, — thinketh no evil, — rejoiceth not in iniquity, but rejoiceth in the Truth; — beareth all Things, believeth all Things, hopeth all Things, endureth all Things.

When, the God of Peace, shall be with us, — granting Us in this World, knowledge of his Truth, — and in the World to come, Life everlasting.

And, let all the odious Appellations of Parties, and Distinctions, and Coalitions be done away, and lost in Love! — That there be no other Contentions left, than those kind Ones, — who shall do his Neighbour, his King, and his Country, the best Service, — the most desirable Good!

'Thus, and only thus,' let all our Emulation be to help one another! to outdo one another in hearty Affection; with truly laudable and zealous Endeavours for old England!

And lastly, may such happy Agreement not cease in us, 'till the Kingdom of this World be swallowed up in Christ's glorious One, in which, (as hath been prophesied,) the Wolf shall dwell with the Kid, — and the Calf, and the young Lion, and the Fatling together, — and a little Child shall lead Them: — When, there will be no hurting, nor destroying in all God's holy Mountain; and the Rest, which He shall give to Mankind, shall be glorious.

O the blessed Day, when these Things shall come to pass! May God prepare us all for it by Faith, and Repentance, and good Works, — through Him, who was both the Desire and

and Blessing of all Nations,—(Jesus Christ, the righteous —) our Saviour, our Sanctifier, our Redeemer!

To whom, with the Father and the holy Ghost, be ascribed all Honour, Praise, and Thanksgiving in the Church, world without end. Amen.
