ACCOUNT

OF THE

GRAND FEDERAL

PROCESSION,

Philadelphia, July 4, 1788. [ By Francis Hopinison]

To which are added,

Mr. WLSON'S ORATION.

AND A

LETTE

ON THE

STBJECT OF THE PROCESSION.

Account of the grand federal proceffion in Philadelphia, July 4, 1788.

O N Friday, the 4th day of July, 1788, the citizens of Philadelphia celebrated the declaration of independence made by the thirteen united flates of America on the 4th of July, 1776, and the eftablithment of the conflitution or frame of government proposed by the late general convention, and now folemnly adopted and ratified by ten of those flates.

The rifing fun was faluted with a full peal from Chrift church iteeple, and a difcharge of cannon from the thip Rifing Sun, commanded by captain Philip Brown, anchored off Market-fireet, and fuperbly decorated with the flags of various nations. Ten veffels, in honour of the ten flates of the union, were drelled and arranged thro' the whole length of the harbour, each bearing a broad white flag at the mafthead, inferibed with the names of the flates refpectively in broad gold letters-in the following order-New-Hampfhire opposite to the Northern Liberties; Maffachufetts to Vincfireet : Connecticut to Race-fireet ; New-Jerfey to Arch-ffreet; Pennfylvania to Market-flreet; Delawars to Chefnut-freet; Maryland to Walnut-freet; Virginia to Spruce-flreet; South-Carolina to Pine-freet; and Georgia to South-freet. The thips at the wharfs were also drelled on the occafion ; and as a brifk fouth wind prevailed through the whole day, the flags and pendants were kept in full difplay, and exhibited a most pleafing and animating profpect.

According to orders iffued the day before, the feveral parts, which were to compose the grand procession, began to allemble at eight o'clock in the morning, at the intersection of South and Third-streets,

Nine gentlemen, diffinguished by white plumes in their hats, and furnished with speaking-trumpets, were superintendants of the procellion, viz. general Missin, general Stewart, colonel Proctor, colonel Gurney, colonel Will, colonel Marsh, major Moore, major Lenox, and mr. Peter Brown.

The different companies of militaty, trades and profeilions had previcult cutots different places in the city of their own appointment, where they were feparately formed by their officers and conductors, and marched in order with their respective flags. devices, and machines, to the place of general rendezvous. As these companies arrived in fucceffion, the fuperintendants disposed of them in the neighbouring ffreets in fuch manner as that they might eafily fall into the flations they were to occupy in forming the general procession, as they fhould be fucceffively called upon.-By this means, the molt perfect order and regularity were effectually preferved.

After a strict review of the freets of the city, it had been determined that the line of march should be as follows: to commence at the interfection of South and Third-streets, thence along Third-street to Callow-Hill-street; thence up Callow-hillstreet to Fourth-street; thence along Fourth-street to Market-street, and thence to Union Green, in front of Bush-Hill--William Hamilton, efg. having kindly offered the spacious lawn before his house at Bush-Hill for the purposes of the day.

The fireet commissioners had, the evening before, gone through the line of march—and directed the pavements to be fwept, the trees to be lopt, and all obflacles to be removed.

About half after nine o'clock, the grand proceffion began to move; of which the following is as correct a detail as could be procured.

Twelve we-men, dreffed in white frocks, with black girdles round their waists, and ornamented caps, headed by major Philip Pancake.

11.

The first city troop of light-dragoons, commanded by captain Miles. III.

INDEPENDENCE.

John Nixon, efq. on horfeback, bearing the flaff and cap of liberty; und the cap, a filk flag with the words, "fourth of July, 1776," in large gold letters. IV. Four pieces of artillery, with a detachment from the train, commanded by captains Morrel and Fifher.

V. FRENCH ALLIANCE. Thomas Fitzfimons, efq. on hor A back, carrying a flag of white filk, having three fleurs-de-lys and thirteen ftars in union over the words, "fixth of February, 1778, in gold letters. The horfe he rode belonged formerly to count Rochambeau.

VI. Corps of light infantry, commanded by captain A. G. Claypoole, with the standard of the first regiment. VII.

DEFINITIVE TREATY OF PEACE. George Clymer, elq. on horseback, carrying a staff adorned with olive and laurel. The words, " third of September, 1783," in gold letters pendant from the flaff.

VIII.

Col. John Shee, on horfeback, carrying a flag, blue field, with a laurel and an olive wreath over the words-"Washington, the friend of his country," in filver letters ; the ftaff adorned with olive and laurel.

IX.

The city troop of light dragoons, captain William Bingham, commanded by major W. Jackion.

Richard Bache, esq. on horseback, as a herald, attended by a trumpet, proclaiming a new era; the words "new era," in gold letters, pendant from the herald's staff, and the following lines :

Peace o'er our land her olive wand descentis; extends, And white-rob'd innocence from heav'n The crimes and frauds of anarchy shall fail, Returning justice lifts again her scale. XI.

CONVENTION OF THE STATES. The hon. Peter Muhlenberg, efq. on horseback, with a blue flag; the words "feventeenth of September, 1787," in filver letters.

XII.

A band of mulic, performing a grand march, composed by mr. Alexander Reinagle for the occasion.

XIII.

THE CONSTITUTION. The honourable chief-juffice M'Kean, the hon. judge Atlee, the honourable judge Ruth (in their robes of office) in a lofty, ornamental car, in the form of a large eagle, drawn by fix horfes, pearing the conflitution, framed, and ked on a flaff, crowned with the cap of liberty. The words, " the people," in gold letters, on the ffatt, immediately under the conflictution.

The car was made by George and William Hunter; the carriage painted light blue, twenty feet long, hind wheels eight feet, and the front fix feet and a half in diameter ; the body, fixed on springs, was thirteen feet high, in the shape of a bald eagle; from head to tail, thirteen feet long; the break emblazoned with thirteen filver stars, in a sky-blue field, and underneath, thirteen stripes, alternate red and white. The dexter talon embraced an olive branch, the innifer gralped thirteen arrows.

XIV. Corps of light infantry, commanded by captain Heyfham, with the flandard of the third regiment.

XV. Ten gentlemen, representing the flates that have ratified the federal conflitution; each bearing a flag with the name of the liate he represented, in gold letters, and walking arm in arm, emblematical of the union, viz.

1. Duncan Ingraham, esquire; NEW-HAMPSHIRE.

s. Jonathan Williams, jun. efquire ; MASSACHUSETTS.

3. Jared Ingerfol, efquire; CONNECTICUT.

4. Samuel Stockton, efquire ; NEW-JERSEY.

5. James Wilfon, efquire ;

PENNSYLVANIA. 6. Colonel Thomas Robinfon,

DELAWARE. 7. Honourable J. E. Howard, efquire :

MARYLAND.

8. Colonel Febiger,

VIRGINIA.

9. W. Ward Burrows, efquire ; SOUTH-CAROLINA.

10. George Meade, elquire ;

GEORGIA.

XVI.

Colonel William Williams, on horfeback, in armour, bearing on his left arm a fhield, emblazoaed with the arms of the united flates. XVII.

The Montgomery troop of light-horfe, commanded by captain James Morris, elquire.

XVIII. The confuls and reprefentatives of foreign flates in alliance with Amer rice, in an ornamented car, drawn by four horles.

لار 💽

Captain Thomas Bell, with the flag of the united flates of America.

Barbe de Marbois, esquire, vice-conful of France.

J. H. C. Heineken, esquire, conful of the united Netherlands.

Charles Hellstedt, esquire, consulgeneral of Sweden.

Charles W, Lecke, esquire, carrying the flag of Prullia.

Thomas Barclay, esquire, carrying the flag of Morocco.

XIX.

The honourable Francis Hopkinson, esquire, judge of admiralty, wearing in his hat a gold anchor pendant on a green riband, preceded by the register's clork, carrying a green bag filled with rolls of parchment, and having the word " admiralty" in large letters on the front of the bag.

Jarges Read, esquire, register, wearing a filver pen in his hat.

Clement Biddle, esquire, marshal, carrying a filver oar, adorned with green ribands.

XX.

The wardens of the port and tonnage officer.

XXI.

Collector of the cuftoms and naval-officer. XXII.

Peter Baynton, esquire, as a citizen, and colonel Isac Melchor as an Indian chief, in a carriage, smoaking the calumet of peace together. The fachem magnificently dressed, according to the Indian custom; his head adorned with scarlet and white plumes; jewels of filver hanging from his nose and ears; ten strings of wampum round his neck; the broad belt of peace and brotherly love in his hand; an ornamented vest and other decorations fuitable to the character,

XXIII.

The Berks county troop, confisiin of thirty dragoons, commanded by captain Philip Strubing,

XXIV,

The new roof, or grand federal edifice, on a carriage drawn by ten white horles; the dome fupported by thirteen Corinthian columns, raifed on pedeftals proper to that order; the frieze de oracel with thirteen flars; left unfinished : on the pedestals of the columns were inferibed, in ornamented cyphers, the initials of the thirteen American states. On the top of the dome, a handfome cupola, furmounted by a figure of Plenty, bearing her cornucopiæ, and other emblems of her character. The dinentions of this building were as follow: ten feet diameter, eleven feet to the top of the cornice, the dome four feet high, the cupola five for high, the figure of Plenty, three feet lix inches; the carriage on which it was mounted, three feet high ; the whole thirty-fix feet in height. Round the pedeflal of the edifice were these words, "in uni-on the fabric flands firm." This elegant building was begun and finished in the flort space of four days, by mr. William Williams and co.

The grand edifice was followed by _ architects and house-carpenters, in number four hundred and fifty, carrying inlignia of the trade, and preceded by meffrs. Benjamin Loxley, Gunning Bedford, Thomas Nevel, Levi Budd, Jofeph Ogilby and William Roberts, difplaying defigns in architecture, &c. Mr. George Ingels bore the houfe carpenters' flandard-the company's arms properly emblazoned on a white field-motto, "juffice and benevolence." To this corps, the law-makers and file-cutters attached themfelves, headed by meffrs. John Harper and William Cook, and carrying a flag, with a hand and fawmill-faw, gilt on a pink field.

On the floor of the grand edifice, were placed ten chairs, for the accommodation often gentlemen, viz. meffrs. Hillary Baker, George Latimer, John Wharton, John Nesbitt, Samuel Morris, John Brown, Tench Francis, Joseph Anthony, John Chaloner, and Benjamin Fuller. These gentlemen iat as representatives of the citizens at large, to whom the federal conductution was committed previous, to the ratification. When the grand edifice arrived fafe at Union Green. these gentlemen gave up their feats to the representatives of the flates, enumerated above in article XV. Tho entered the temple, and hung their flags on the Corinthian columns to which they respectively belonged. In the evening, the grand edifice, with back in great triumph, and with loud huzzas, to the flate-house, in Chesnutflreet.

XXV.

The Pennfylvania fociety of Cincinnati, and militia officers.

XXVI.

Corps of light infantry, commanded by captain Rofe, with the flandard of the fifth regiment.

XXVII.

The agricultural fociety, headed by their prefident Samuel Powel, efquire. A flag borne by major Samuel Hodgdon, on a buff-coloured ground in an oval compartment. Industry reprefented by a ploughman, driving a plough drawn by oxen, followed at a imall diftance by the goddess of Plenty, bearing a cornucopia in her left and a fickle in her right hand : in the back ground, a view of an American farm—motto, "venerate the plough." XXVIII.

Farmers, headed by Richard Peters, Richard Willing, Samuel Meredith, Ifaac Warner, George Gray, William Peltz, — Burkhart, and Charles Willing. Two ploughs, the one drawn by four oxen, and directed by Richard Willing, efq. in a farmer's drefs, mr. Charles Willing, in the character of a plough boy, driving the oxen; the other drawn by two horfes, and directed by mr. — Burkhart—followed by a fower, fowing feed, farmers, millers, &c.

XXIX.

The manufacturing fociety, with the fpinning and carding machines, looms, &c. Mr. Gallaudet bearing a flag, the device of which was, a bee-hive, with bees ifluing from it, flanding in the beams of a rifing fun; the field of the flag blue, and the motto—" in its rays we fhall feel new vigour" written in golden characters.

Robert Hare, esquire.

Managers of the fociety. Subscribers to the fociety. Committee for managing the manufacturing fund. Subféribers to the manufacturing fund. The carriage of the manufacturers is in length thirty feet, in breadth thirteen feet, and the fame 'height, neatly covered with white cotton of their manufacture, and was drawn by ten large hayhorles; on this carriage was placed

Sparding machine, worked by two perfons, and carding cotton at the rate of fifty pounds weight per day; next. a fpinning machine of eighty fpindles, worked by a woman (a native of and instructed in this city) drawing cotton fuitable for fine jeans or federal rib; on the right of the flage was next placed a lace loom, a workman weaving a rich scarlet and white livery lace ; on the left, a man weaving jean on a large loom, with a fly fluttle; behind the looms, was fixed the apparatus of mr. Hewfon, printing muflins of an elegant chintz pattern, and mr. Lang defigning and cutting prints for fhauls; on the right were feated mrs. He wion and het four daughters, penciling a piece of very neat iprigg'd chintz of mr. Hewfon's printing; all drelled in cottons of their own manufacture; on the back part of the carriage, on a lofty staff, was displayed the calico printers' flag; in the centre, thirteen stars in a blue field, and thirteen red ftripes in a white field; round the edges of the flag were printed. thirty-feven different prints of various colours (one of them a very elegant bed furniture chintz of fix colours) as fpecimens of printing done at Philadelphia.-Motto-" May the union government protect the manufactures of America."

Then followed the weavers' flag, a rampant lion in a green field, holding a fluttle in his dexter paw—r.otto— "may government protect us." behind the flag walked the weavers of the factory, accompanied by other citizens of the fame trade, in number about one hundred; the cotton card makers annexed themfelves to this fociety.

XXX.

Corps of light infantry, commanded by captain Robinson, with the standard of the fixth regiment.

XXXI.

The marine fociety.

Captain William Greenway, carrying a globe, fupported by captains Heyfbam and Alberfon, with fpyglaffes in their hands.

glaffes in their hands. Ten captains, five a-breaft, with quadrants reprefenting the ten flates that have joined the union: viz,

ohn Woods,	Robert Bethel,
ohn Ashmead,	William Allen.
William Miller,	William Tanner
amuel Howel,	Leelon Simons, &
ohn Souder

· • '

Members of the fociety, fix a-breaft, with trumpets, fpy-glass, charts, and fundry other implements of their profession, wearing badges in their hats, representing a ship:—eighty-nine in number.

Mounting twenty guns : commanded by John Green, elg. Mellrs. S. Smith, W. Belchar and - Mercer, heutenants; four young boys in uniform as midshipmen : the crew, including officers, confifted of twenty-five men. The ship Union is thirty-three feet in length, her width and depth in due proportion. Her bottom is the barge of the ship Alliance, and the same barge which formerly belonged to the Serapis, and was taken in the memorable engagement of captain Paul Jones, of the Bon Homme Richard with the Serapis. The Union is a mafter-piece of elegant workmanship, perfectly proportioned and complete throughout ; decorated with emblematical carving. And what is truly attonishing, the was begun and completed in lefs than four days, viz. be-gun at cleven o'clock on Monday morning the thirtieth of June, and on the field of rendezvous on Thursday evening following, fully prepared to join in the grand proceilion. The workmanship and appearance of this beautiful object commanded universal admiration and applaule, and did high honour to the artifts of Philadelphia, who were concerned in her construction. She was mounted on a carriage made for the purpose, and drawn by ten horfes. A sheet of canvas was tacked all round along the water line, and extending over a light frame, hung to the ground, fo as entirely to conceal the wheels and machinery. This canvas was painted to represent the fea; to that nothing incongruous appeared to offend the eye. The ceremonies in fetting fail, receiving the pilot on board, trimming her fails to the wind, according to the feveral couries of the line of march, throwing the lead, her arrival at Union Green, catting anchor, being hailed and welcomed with three cheers, and the cantain forwarding his difpatches to the prefident of the united flates, &c. &c. were all performed with the firstell maritime propriety; but neither time nor the fpace allotted for this account, will permit fuch a detail as rould do juftice to the conduct of aptain Green and his crew, and to the architects and feveral workmen concrned in this beautiful feature in outgrand proceffion. The fhip was felowed by the pilots of the prt,

With their boat, (name "the Federal Pilots,") under the command of Ifaac Roach; who feared a-long fide the fhip Union athe place appointed, and put mr. Aichael Dawfon on board, as pilot; hen took his flation with his boat in the proceffion, and on her arrival, attended and took the pilot off again.

Ship carpeners,

Headed by meffrs. Fraxis Grice and John Norris, with the raft of a fhip on the flocks, and cafesof inftruments in their hands; a flag baring a fhip on the flocks, carrier by Manuel Eyres, efq. fupported b meffrs. Harrifon, Rice, Brewfler, and Humphreys; followed by maft makers, caulkers and workmen to the amount of 330, all wearing abadge in their hats, reprefenting a fho on the flocks, and a green fprig of wite oak.

Boat builers.

A frame reprefentinga boat builder's thop, eighteen feet ling, eight wide, and thirteen high, mainted on a carriage. On the top of the frame, the ship Union's barge, elgantly finished, an enfign flaff and flg, blue field, quartered with thirten ftripes, and bearing an axe and as adze croffing each other-motto, by these we live." The barge tenfeet long, manned with a cockfwait and fix little boys as bargemen, in a beautiful uniform of white, deconted with blue ribands. On the patform underneath, seven hands tuilding a boat thirteen feet long, wlich was fet up : and nearly completed during the procellion. [It will be manifeit the numbers above mentioned have reference to the 13 flates of America, the 12 flates represented in the late general convention, and the 10 litates now united under the new conflictution.] The whole machine was contrived with great skill, and dissum by four bay horfes, bebnging to and under the conduct of m. Jacob Toy, of the Northern Libries, followed by forty boat builders, eaded by meffrs. Bowyer Brooks an Warwick Hale.

Sil makers.

A flag, carried by captain Joseph Rice, representing the infide view of a fail-loft, win matters and men at work; on the top thirteen flars; in the fly. five vffels.--Motto, "may commerce flouish, and industry be rewarded." Followed by a number of mafters, journymen and apprentices. Sip joiners.

Nicholas Youg, conductor ; his fon carrying a cdar flaff before him ; Robert M'Mllen, mafter workman ; William MMullen and Samuel Ormes, carryig the company's arms on a flag, viz, a binnacle and hencoop, crookedolanes and other tools of that profeton, proper ; thirteen ftripes and threen flars, ten in full fplendor.—Meto, "by thefe we fupport our famlies." Followed by twenty-five of ac trade, wearing cedar branches in ther hats, Rope makers and thip chandlers. The flag carrie in front by Richard Tittermary ; reprefenting a ropeyard, with ten men fpinning, and three standing ide, with their hemp around their wats; emblematical of the prefeat lituaion of the thirteen flates; with a moto, "may commerce flourifi." Next n front, as leaders, were John Teermary, fen. and George Goodwin, being the oldest belonging to thecalling; followed by the other gentlenen of the profession. with a piece of ripe and hemp in their hands; and the journeymen and apprentices in the rear, with hemp around their wails, and their fpinning clouts in their hands-about fixty in number.

Merchans and traders. Their flandard was the flag of a merhant flip of the united flates—in the union were ten iluminated flats, and three traced rourd in filver, but not yet illuminated—on one fide of the flag a fhip, the Pennfylvania, with in infeription, "4th July, 1788." On the reverse of the flag a globe, over which was inferibed, in a feroll, " par tout k monde." The flaff, on which the was difplayed, terminated in a pending a mariner's compass. The standard was borne by mr. Jonathan Nessit, preceding the merchants and traders:

Thomas Willing, efq. attended by their committee, meffrs. Charles Pettit, John Wilcocks, John Rofs, and Tench Coxe.

The body of the merchants and traders.

Next followed the clerks and apprentices of the merchants and traders, preceded by mr. Saintonge, bear.ng a large ledger.

Corps of light infantry, commanded by captain Sproat, with the flandard of the fourth regiment.

TRADES AND PROFESSIONS.

N. B. The order of the feveral trades, except house carpenters and those concerned in the construction and fitting out a fhip, was determined by lot. XXXIII. Cordwainers.

A carriage drawn by four horfes, representing a cordwainer's shop, in which fix men were actually at work; the fhop hung round with thoes, boots, &c.

Mr. Alexander Rutherford, conductor.

Mr. Elisha Gordon, and mr. Martin Beish, assistants, followed by a committee of nine, three a-breast.

Mr. James Roney, junior, standard bearer.

The flandard—the cordwainers' arms. on a crimfon field ; above, the arms, CRISPIN, holding a laurel branch in his right hand, and a foroll of parchment in his left.

Three hundred cordwainers following, fix a-breast, each wearing a white leather apron, embellished with the company's arms, richly painted,

XXXIV. Coach painters. With a flag, ornamented with the infignia of the art, carried by mr. followed by ten of the profellion, carrying palettes and pencils in their hands. XXXV. Cabinet and chair-makers. Mr. Jonathan Goftelow, carrying the fcale and dividers ; mr. Jedediah Snowden, with the rules of architecture ; four of the oldeft mafters ; mr. James Lee, attended by three mafters, bearing the flandard, or cabinet makwrs' arms, elegantly painted and gilt on a blue field, ornamented with thirteen flars, ten of which were gilt, the other hands united-motto-" By unity we Support fociety." The mallers, fix a-oreaft, wearing linen aprons, and bucks' tails in their hats.

The work-fhop, feventeen feet long, by nine feet eight inches wide, and fourteen feet high, on a carriage drawn by four horses-at each end of the thop ten ltars-two-figns, inferibed, " federal cabinet and chair-shop," one on each fide. Mr. John Brown, with journeymen and apprentices at work in the thop. The flop followed by journeymen and apprentices lix a-break, all wearing linen aprons, and bucks' tails in their hats-the aprons of American manufacture-one hundred in train.

XXXVI. Brick-makers. Carrying a large flag of green filk, on which was represented a brick-yard, hands at work, a kiln burning-at a little diffance, a federal city building -motto---

" It was found hard in Egypt, " But this prospect makes it eafy." Ten master brick-makers, headed by mr. David Rofe, fen. and followed by one hundred workmen in frocks and trowiers, with tools, &c. XXXVII.

House, ship, and sign painters. Arms, three shields argent on a field azure; creft, a hand holding a brufh, proper ; motto, " Virtue alone is true nobility." The flage fourteen feet long by feven; on it a mill for manufacturing colours, a glazing table, with a flone for grinding paint; flage furnified with pors, fathes tools, &c. The bufiness on the stage, conducted by melfr. Stride, Wells, Cowen, Deveter, and M'Elwee. Flagborne by rar. Fausburg, as oldest painter, fupported by meff.s. Flin and Fullerton: the rell of the company marching fix a-breast, with gilded brushes, diamouis, gold hammers, glazing knives, &c. Sixty-eight in procession.

XXXVIII. Porters,

Led by John Lawrence and George Green ; on each fide a porter, creffed with a filk fash, leading a horse and dray, the horie richly decorated with blue, white, and red ribands-on the dray, five barrels of fuperfine flour, the words, " Federal flour" painted on the heads of the barrels; followed by John Jacobs and forty porters-a light blue filk standard borne by David Sparks, on which ere exhibited ten ftripes and thirteenlars, three of them clouded, the reftn full splendor; also a horse and ay, with four barrels on the dray, and porter loading a fifth-motto-'may industry ever be encouraged." The standard followed by a number i men, and the rear clofed by AndrewDryer and Jofeph Grefwold. The officers all dreffed with filk fashs, and officers and men wearing whe aprons, tied on with blue filk ribads, and carrying in their hands whys ornamented with blue, red, and write ribands.

The five barrels of federal flour were, after the processon, delivered to the overfeers, for the use of the poor.

XXXIX.

Clock and watch makers. The company's armineatly painted on a filk flag .- Motto, " time rules all things." Headed by mr. John Wood, and followed by twenty-three mombers of the company.

Fringe and ribant weavers.

Mr. John Williams, bearing a blue that, capped with a gilt ball, across the flatt ten wires, to which were fuspended implements, and a great variety of specimens of the art. The fringe, lace and line shuttles were each filled with a quill of thute, to thew that they were in employ; the riband fluttle empty, to fhew that it is, as yet, unemployed. In the g lt ball was' fixed a wire eighteen inches long, from which flowed a riband of ten ftripes. Immediately below the crofs wire, a paper inferibed with verfes, composed by mr. Williams on the occasion.

XLI. Bricklayers,

Headed by meffrs. Nicholas Hicks, William Johnson and Jacob Graff, with their aprons on, and trowels in their hand -a flag with the following device: the bricklayers' arms ; the federal city rifing out of a foreft; workmen building it, and the fun illuminating it. Motto, " both buildings and rulers are the works of our hands." The flag carried by mellirs. Charles Souder, William Math and Joseph W 13s, with their aprons, and fupported by meffrs. John Robbins, Peter Waglom, Thomas Mitchell, John Boyd, Burton W Illace, Michael Groves, John Souder, Edward

M*Kaighen, Alexander M*Kinley; ten malter ricklayers, with their aprons on, ad their trowels and olumb-rules inheir hands-followed by fifty-five milers and journeymen, in their apron: and carrying trowels in their hands

XLI. Taylors,

Preceded by reffrs. Barker, Stille, Martin and Tiem, carrying a white flag, with the empany's arms in gold, fupported by wo camels. Motto, by union ou firength increases, Followed by no hundred and fifty of the trade.

XLIII.

Inftrument maers, turners, Windfor chair and fpiming-wheel makers, Conducted by aptain John Cornish; mr. John Stow bearing the flandard, the turners' arms, with the addition of a fpinning-wheel on one fide, and a Windfor chair on the other. Motto, " by faith ue obtain." Mellrs. George Stow and Michael Fox car-Tying columns, representing the feveral branches of turning. Meffrs. Anthony and Mafon, with a groupe of mutical influments, followed by fixty perions dreffed in green aprons.

XLIV. Carvers and gilders. The carvers and guilders exhibited an ornamental car, on a federal plan, being thirteen feet by ten on the floor, on which were crefted thirteen pilafters, richly ornamented with carved work, the heads of ten gilt and tabelled with the names of the feveral flates arranged as they came into the federal union; the remaining three left partly finished; about three feet above the floor, a level rail united to the pilafters, denoting the equality of the fubjects. In the centre a column, with a twining laurel running in a fpiral form to the capping, which was ten feet high, on the top of which was placed a buft of general Washington, crowned with a wreath of laurel, and 1 dreffed in the American uniform, with the thirteen flars on a collar; the whole supported by ten tight flays, leading from the finished pilasters to the cap of the column, from whence hung three flack flays, leading to the unfinished pilasters ; over the general's buff the American standard was displayed.

of Phidias, the most eminent of the ancient carvers, with emblematic figures supporting it; infide of the front rail a large figure for the head of a fhip, richly carved and painted; the whole outlide of the car decorated with the figures of the featons, the cardinal virtues, and other devices in carved work. Before the car walked the artifls of the several branches, preceded by mr. Cutbufh, fhip-carver, and mr. Reynolds and mr. Jugiez, houfe, furniture, and coach carvers, with young artills going before. decorated with blue ribands round their necks, to which were fulpended medallions, blue ground, with ten burnished gold stars, one bearing a figure of Ceres, representing Agriculture; another, Fame, blowing her trumpet, announcing to the world the federal union; the middle one carrying a Corinthian column complete, expressive of the domestic branches of carving. In the car was a number of artifls at work, fuperintended by mr. Rulh, ship-carver, who planned and executed the car with its principal ornaments.

XLV. Coopers,

Led on by mr. Daniel Dolbe-an elegant flag, bearing the coopers' arms, embellished with thirteen stars-motto-" May commerce flourish-Lov. as brethren." Supported by melles W. King, R. Babe and John Louch followed by one hundred and fift coopers in white leather aprons, and wearing badges in their hats, reprefenting the tools of the trade.

XLVI. Plane-makers. Mr. William Martin in front, bearing the flandard, white field, a fmoothing plane on the top; device, a pair 6 spring dividers, three planes, a brack a fquare, and guage; followed by eig plane-makers-Motto-" Truth." XLVII.

Whip and cane manufacturers. A machine on a carriage, a boy on at work platting a whip, followed is mr. John M'Allifter, and his journe men, carrying feveral articles of t trade. On the top of the machine flag, with this motto-Let us ence rage our own manufactures."

XLVIII.

Black-fmiths, white-fmiths, and nailers.

In the centre of the front, the head

A machine drawn by nine horf

reprefenting the federal blackfmiths', whitefiniths', and na lors' manufactory, he og a frame of ten by lifteen foet, and nine feet high, with a real chimney extending three feet above the roof, and furnished for use. In front of the building three miller blackfiniths, moffrs. Nathaniel Brown, Nicholas Hefs and William Perkins, fupporting the flandard, cl-gantly ornamented with the finiths' arms .---Motto, " by hamm r in hand, all arts do fland." The manufactory was in full employ during the procettion.-Mr. John Mingler, and his affiftant, Chr.fl.an Keyfer, black-faiths, completed a fet of plough-irons out of old fwords, worked a fword into a lickle, tarned leveral horfe-floes, and porformed feveral jobs on demand. Mr. John Goodman, jun. whitefinith, finilled a complete pair of plyers, a knife, and foine machinery, with other work, on demand. Mellis. Andrew Felfinger and Benjamn Browniel forged, finished and fold a confiderable number of fpikes, nails, and broad ticks. The whole was under the conduct of mellis. Godiley Geboler. David Handerfon, George Goddard, Jacob Etter, Lewis Priht and Jacob Eckfelt, and followed by two hundred brother black-funality whitefinants and nations.

XLIX.

Coach makers,

Proceeded by mr. John Bringhard. in a phæton drawn by two horfes, and , bearing a draft of a coach on a white filk flag. A flage nine feet high, fix-. teen feet long, and eight feet wide, on a carriage drawn by four horfes, reprefenting their shop, with mr. George Way, master-workman, a body and ttarorkmen in green aprons. [ Carriage-maker, a wheelwr ght_a trimmer, and a harnefs-maker, all at work, and a painter ornamenting a body; on each fide of the flage, the words. " no tax on American carriages: in the centre the flandard of yellow ilk, emblazoned with the arms of the profession. viz. Three coaches in a blue field, the chariot of the fun appearing through the clouds-motto-" the clouds difpell'd. w. fnine forth ;" the staff decorated with the implements of the trade ; ten mafters, each bearing a yellow filk flag, with the names of the flates that have adopted the new federal conflictution, in letters of gold, on a blue field, five walking before and five behind the flage; the whole followed by workmen in the different branches of the trade, to the number of one hundred and fifty.

L. Potters.

A flag, on which was nearly painted a kiln burning, and feveral men at work in the different branches of the bufinefs-motio-" the potter hath power over his clay." A four wheeled carriage drawn by two horfes, on which was a potter's wheel, and menatwork: a number of cups, bowls, mugs, &c. were made during the procellion; the cafriage was followed by twenty potters, headed by mellis, Chriftian Piercy and Michael Gilbert, wearing linen aprons of American manufacture;

LI. Hatters,

Led by mr. Andrew Tybout. The flandaid Lorne by mr. John Gordon, viz, on a white field a hat in hand, on each fide a taliel band; the creft, a beaver .- Motto, on a crimfon garter, in gold letters-" with the it dustry of the beaver, we support our rights ?' followed by one hundred and twenty-four hatters.

L.H. Wheelwrights. s

A flage drawn by two horfes, with five men working upon it; making a plough, and a fpeed for a waggon wheel. The flandard a blue flagmotte-" the united wheelwrights." Followed by twenty-two of the trade, headed by mellis. Conrad Rohrman and Nicholas Reep.

LIII. Tin-plate workers,

Preceded by Jofeph Finaur and Martin Rifer, carrying by turns, a flag, bearing the arins of the company proompg emblazoned-followed by ten LIV.

Skinners, breeches-makers, and glovers,

Headed by melles. John Lille and George Cooper; one carrying in his hand a beauting knife, and the other a paring knife : the flandard borne by mr. Shreiner, viz. on one fide a deer, and below it a glove; on the other, a golden fleece, and below a pair of breechcs-motto-" may our manufacture be equal in its confumption to its usefulnefs." Followed by hfty-eight of the trade in buckskin breeches and gloves, and wearing bucks-tails in their hats. To these mr. Joseph Rogers, В parchment and glue manufacturer, attached himfelf.

LV. Tallow chandlers. Mr. Richard Porter, maller. Two flandards : first, the company's arms, on a blue field, trimmed with white, three doves with olive branches; over -the arms, an angel bearing St. John Baptift's head; on each fide two blazing lamps.-Motto, " let your light fo fkine." Second ftandard, a reprefentation of a chandelier of thirteen branches, a lighted candle in each, and thirteen filver flars in a half circle. Infcription-" the flars of America, a light to the world." Motto, at the bottom of the chandelierunited in one." The uniform, 66 blue and white cockades, blue aprons bound with white, at 1 a dove painted in the middle of each ; a white rod furmounted by an olive branch, in each perfon's hand. Twenty in number.

LVI. Victuallers.

A flag, with this infeription-" the death of anarchy and confusion. We feed the poor and hungry." Two axe-men preceding two flately oxen, weighing 3000lbs. Ten boys dreffed in white, five on the right, and five on the left of the oxen, carrying fmall flags, with the names of the flates that have ratified the federal conflictation; two cleaver men; a band of mulic. Conductors-mefficure Philip Hall, George Welper, Philip Odenheimer, and Courad Hoff, followed by eightyfix master-victuallers, all dressed in white. The oxen were killed, and the hides and tallow fold for bread, which was given with the meat to the LVII. . 8 poor. Printers, book-binders, and flation te time These united professions had the sedenal of the plan in far distant seas her stag dis-ral printing press erected on a stage play. nine feet square, which was drawn by four grey horfes; there were alfo, a frame, cafes, and all other implements necessary for the business. On the Hage were two prefimen and a compolitor at work. Mercury, the god of intelligence, was perfonated by mr. Durant, who was drelfed in charachaving wings affixed to his head ter, and feet, a garland of flowers round his temples, and a caduceus in his hand. He distributed among the spectators, fome thousand copies of the following ode, written for the occalion, by the hon. F. Hopkinson, elq. and printed before and during the proce fion at the Federal Prefs.

- OH for a muse of fire! to mount the fkies,
- And to a lift'ning world proclaim-Behold ! behold ! an empire rife ! An era new, Time as he flies,
- Hath enter'd in the book of Fame. On Alleghany's tow'ring head
- Echo shall stand-the tidings spread.
- And o'er the lakes, and misty floods around,
- An era new resound.

See ! where Columbia fits alone,

And from her flar-bespangled throne,

- Beholds the gay proceffion move along,
- And hears the trumpet, and the choral fong-
  - She hears her fons rejoice-
  - Looks into future times, and fees
  - The num'rous bleffings heav'n decrees,
- And with HER plaudit, joins the gen'ral voice.
  - "Tis done ! 'tis done ! my fons," the cries,
  - " In way are valiant, and in council wife ;
- "Wifdom and valour shall my rights defend,
- " And o'er my vast domain those rights extend ;
- " Science shall flourish-genius stretch her wing,
- " In native firains Columbian muses ling;
- "Wealth crown the arts, and juffice clean her fcales,
- "Commerce her pond'rous anchor weigh,
- " Wide spread her fails,
- " My fons for freedom fought, nor fought in vain;
- " But found a naked goddefs was their gain:
- "Good government alone can shew the maid,
- "In robes of focial happiness array'd."
  - Hail to this feftival ! all hail the day !
  - Columbia's flandard on her roof difplay ;

And let the people's motto ever be " United thus, and thus united, free,"

An ode, in the German language, fitted to the purpole, and printed by mr. Steiner, was also thrown amongst the people as the procession moved along. Ten small packages, containing the English ode and the list of toass for the day, wore made up and addressed to the ten states in union respectively; these were tied to pidgeons, which at intervals role from Mercury's cap, and slew off, with the acclamations of an admiring multitude.

Mr. William Sellers, fen. bore the flandard of the united profeilions; arms, -azure, a chevron argent, charged with an American bald-eagle volant, and two reams of paper (corded, over blue covers) between three books closed ; and in chief, perched on the point of the chevron, a dove with an olive branch; all proper. Supporters, two Fames, blowing their trumpets, clothed with fky-blue flowing robes, spangled with stars, argent. Creft, a bible displayed, proper, on a wreath azure and argent. Under the escutcheon, two pens placed faltier ways, proper. Motto-" we protett and are supported by liberty." After the standard, masters of the combined profeilions, followed by jourmeymen and apprentices, each carrying a fcroll tied with blue filk binding, exhibiting the word " typographer," illuminated by ten ftars in union. Fifty in the train,

LVIII. Saddlers.

A faddler's fhop dreffed with faddlery, and a variety of ready made work, elegant American plated furniture, &c. drawn by two fine horfes. ln the foop mr. Stephen Burrows and a number of hands at work, one of whom (having the different parts in readinels) completed a neat faddle during the procellion. The flandard, earried by mellis. Jehofaphat Polk and John Young, was of green filk, th the company's arms elegantly ainted and gilt.—Motto, "our truft s in God." The company was headd by melfrs. John Stephens and John Marr. Mr. William Healy, filverplater, joined himfelf to this corps. darrying a federal bit, of his own workmanship.

LIX. Stone-cutters. Three apprentices before with tools, and two with the orders of the opeative lodge, one with the flandard, in mafon's order; the reft followed with pieces of polifhed marble. Twenty in number.

LX. Bread and biscuit bakers. A flandard bearing the bread bakers' arms, properly emblazoned—motto— "may our country never want bread." Unitorm, white thirts and full plaited aprons, quite round the waift, with a light blue faft. A flage, with a baker's oven fix feet in diameter, and three hands at work as the procession went on, directed by a masser, and who distributed bread to the people as it came out of the oven. Headed by mr. George Mayer.

Bifcuit bakers' ftandard—a white flag with the reprefentation of a bake-houfe and feveral hands working in the different branches of the bulinefs—motto, "may the federal government revive our trade." Meffrs. Thomas Hopkins and Mathias Landenberger in front of twelve mafters. Meffrs. John Peters, fenior, and William Echart, clofed the rear; each mafter carrying a fmall peale. The number of bakers in proceffion one hundred and thirty.

LXI. Gunfmiths.

A flage erected upon a four wheel carriage, drawn by four horfes, being in length fourteen feet, and in breadth eight feet, with a motto in large lets ters on each fide, "federal armoury," with a number of hands thereon at work, employed in different branches of the trade, conducted by two fenior masters, viz. John Nicholson and Joseph Perkins; Abraham, Morrow bearing a flandard at the head of the company, in rear of the carriage, the ftandard decorated with fundry devices reprefenting the arms belonging to the trade. The flandard, a large white filk flag, with crofs guns in the middle, at the top of the crofs guns the cap of liberty, with the letters CP. (city proof); underneath the guns, the cross pistols, with the letter V (viewed); at the end nearest the staff, a powder calk; at the oppolite end, the reprefentation of three balls. The uniform of the company, green baize aprons with green firings.

LXII. Copper fmiths. A car fourteen by feven feet, drawn by four horfes, with three hands at work at fills and tea kettles, under the direction of mr. Benjamin Har- Conductors-meffrs. Hamilton, Few, befon.

19

Astandard with the arms of the trade, and other things emblematical, furroundedwith thirteen flars, borne by two mafters ; feventeen mallers of the profetion following.

LXIII.

Gold-fmiths, filver-fmiths and jewellers.

William Ball, elg. senior member, with an urn.

Standard bearers, meffrs. Joseph Gee and John Germon, carrying a filk tlag with the filver-fmiths' arms on one fide of it-motto--" jusitia virtutum regina." And on the reverse the gen us of America, holding in her hand a filver urn, with the following motto: the purity, brightnefs and folidity of this metal are emblematical of that liberty which we expect from the new conflictution; her head furrounded by thirteen flars, ten of them very brilliant, representing the flates which have ratified; two of them lefs bright, reprefenting New York and North Carolina, whole ratifications are fhortly expected; one with three dark points and two light ones, an emblem of Rhode Illand, and one of equal luftre with the first ten, just emerging from the horizon, near one half teen, for the riling flate of Kentucke; after which followed the reft of the mafters, with their journeymen. and apprentices : in all thirty-five.

LXIV. Distillers. On a flandard of light blue filk a ftill, worm, tub, and other implements of the bufinels, neatly painted : the flandard borne by mr. Michael Shubert, and followed by twelve diffillers

LXV. Tobacconifis, Headed by mr. John Riley : the standard of white filk ; a tobacco plant with thirteen leaves, ten in perfection, three not finished, a hogfhead of tobacco on one fide of the plant, a roll of plug tobacco, bottle and bladder of fnuif; over the plant on filvered, and fhining bright, the other three not finished-carried by mr. Thomas Leiper :-- motto-- " fucce/s to the tobacco plant." Each member with a green apron and blue firings, a plume of the different kinds of tobacco leaves in his hat, and different 1901s of his profession in his hands.

the state of the s

Stimble and Murphy. Seventy in number.

LXVI. Brafs-founders.

Mr. Daniel King, in a car drawn by four grey horfes, with emblematical colours, and a furnace in blaff during the whole procellion. He furnished a three inch howitzer, which was mounted and fired with the artillery on Union Green ; his journeymen and, apprentices also nearly executed feveral other articles in that ingenious branch. The motto of the colours, " in vain the earth her treasure hides." The whole was executed by mr, King, at his own expence.

LXVII.

Stocking manufacturers, Headed by mr. George Freytag; thirty in number : their colours white, with a pair of blue flockings acrols, a capabove, finger mitt below, encircl.d with a gilded heart, a gilded crown with ten horns or points ; on each, a blue flar; above all_Motto_" the union of the American flocking manufacturers."

LXVIII.

Tanners and curriers. Tanners twenty five in number, led by mr. George Leih, carrying the flag with the company's arms .- Mot-" God be with us." to, Curriers, led by mr. George Oakley, carrying the flag with the company's arms. Motto, " Spes noftra Deus." Followed by thirty-four of the trade. each carrying a currying knife, and w aring a blue apron and jean coatee of our new manufactory.

LXIX. Upholiterers, Headed by meilrs. John Maion and John Davis. In front, a culhion with its drapery, on which fluttered a dove with an olive branch in its mouth, and on its head a double fcroll. Motto, " be liberty thine." Followed by a cabriele fophu decorated.

LX. Sugar refiners. Conducted by the honourable Chriftopher Kucher, captain Jacob Lawerfwyler, melfrs, Benjamin Pennington, John Morgan, David Miercken. Adam Cornman and Henry Claufe, wearing black cockades, blue fashes and white aprons, with a blue flandard : Arms-or, on a staff, erect in pale, proper, a cap of liberty, azure, turned up e. mae1

Which we want - cash for

LXXIII. Engravers.

placed between two fugar loaves in fefs, covered with blue paper; on a chief of the third, thirteen flars argent : creft, a lighted candle, in a candleflick interibed on the foot with the word " proof," proper-motto, in a fcroll over the creft, " double refined." The whole ornamented with fugar canes; two of which are placed, faltier ways, under the efcutcheon, and extending up the fides thereof. Under the arms, the words " American manufacture." The standard was followed by thirty-fix perions of the trade, with white aprons, (on which were painted fugar-loaves, marked ten) and bearing the various implements of the bulinets.

LXXI. Brewers,

Ten in number, headed by Reuben Haines, with ten cars of barley in their hats, and failnes of hop-vines, carrying malt-fhovels and mailting oars; one dray loaded with malt and hops, and one loaded with two hogiheads and a butt, marked, "beer, ale, porter," with the following infeription, "proper drink for Americans;" a flandard carried by Luke Morris, decorated with the brewers' arms: motto, "home-brewed is befl."

LXXII.

Peruke-makers and barber-furgeons, preceded by melfrs. Perrie and Tautwine, full dreffed. The standard, a white field with the arms of the company, and other devices fuited to the occation, viz. a pillar, the emblem of Brength, with a cap of liberty, fupported by twelve hands, in gules, reprefenting the twelve concurring flates that called the grand convention ; a pelican and her young, in a field, azure, the arms of the barber furgeons ; a goat ran pant, in full coat, argent, in a field, fable, the arms of the perukemakers; with two arms extended at top, hand in hand, the emblem of union and friendship; supporters to the arms, a land and river horfe, with ornaments. Motto, " united we fland."

The treafurer of the company—the Wate truftees—the company by feniority, o'cloc hand in hand, fix abreaft, confifting of feventy-two, each wearing a white The I falh, with a black relief down the flates middle, and cockades of the fame, tion. in honour of the first and great ally of the united flates.

Their armorial infignia (deviled for the occasion) were—Or, on a chevron engrailed, gules (between a parallel ruler fable, barred and itudded of the first, and two gravers faltier ways, czure, handle of the third) three plates; the creft, a copper plate on a fand bag proper, inferibed underneath, in large capitals, ENGRAVERS.

LXXIV. Plasierers.

(No return.)

LXXV. Brufh-makers. A white flag, with a wild boar, and a bundle of brifiles over him; the motto, "federal brufk manufactory." The flag carried by mr. Roger Flahavan, jun.

LXXVI. Stay-makers, were reprefented by mr. Francis Serre, with his first journeyman carrying an elegant pair of lady's stays, LXXVII.

Corps of light infantry, commanded by captain Rees, with the flandard of the fecond regiment.

LXXVIII.

The civil and military officers of congress in the city.

LXXIX.

The fupreme executive council of Pennfylvania. [His excellency the prefident was too much indifpoted to attend.]

LXXX.

The justices of the common pleas and the magistrates.

LXXXI.

Sheriff and coroner on horfeback. ________LXXXII.

Board of city wardens.

City treasurer, and fecretary to the board.

Clerks of the markets, with standard, weights and measures,

Conflable of the watch, with his two alfistants, bearing their flaves.

Mulic.

Twenty watchmen, with their flams decorated, and in their proper drefs. Twenty filent watchmen, with their itaves.

Watchmen, calling the hour toro'clock and a glorious flar light morning.

The hour and flars alluded to the ten flates who have adopted the conflicution.

LXXXIII, The fireet commilianers.

LXXXIV.

The gentlemen of the bar, headed by the honourable Edward Shippen, efq. prefident of the common pleas, and William Bradford, efq. attorney-geseral, followed by the lludents of law.

LXXXV.

The clergy of the different christian denominations, with the rabbi of the Jews, walking arm in arm.

LXXXVI.

The college of phyficians, headed by their prefident, dr. John Redman, and followed by the fludents in phyfic. LXXXVII.

Students of the university, headed by the vice- provost, and of the episcopal academy, and most of the fchools in the city, preceded by their respective principals, profellors, matters and tutors; a small slag borne before them informed with these words, "the rifing generation."

LXXXVIII.

The county troop of light horse, commanded by major W. Macpherson, brought up the rear of the whole.

Major Fullerton attended the right wing, and col. Mentges the left wing of the line.

Messes. Stoneburner, Hiltzheimer and Jonathan Penrose, furnished and superintended the horses for the carriages.

This grand proceffion began to move from the place of rendezvous about half paft nine (as was before mentioned) and the front arrived at Union Green, in front of Bufh Hill, about half paft twelve. The length of the line was about one mile and a half; the diftance marched through about three miles. As the proceffion came into Fourth-firect, captain David Zeigler and lieut. John Armftrong had drawn up their company of couunental groops, and faluted the procellion as it paffed; according to military rule.

A very large circular range of tables, covered with canvas awnings, and plentifully fpread with a cold collation, had been prepared the day before by the committee of provisions. In the centre of this fpacious circle the grand edifice was placed, and the fhip Union moored. The flags of the confuls and other flandards were binted round the edifice. As foon as the rear of the line had an rived, James Wilfon, efq. addreffed the people from the federal edifice in the following oration :

My Friends and Fellow-Citizens,

YOUR candid and generous indulgence I may well befpeak, for many reasons. I thall mention but one. While I express it, I feel it in all its force. My abilities are unequal—abilities far fuperior to mine would be unequal—to the occasion, on which I have the honor of being called to addrefs you.

A people, free and enlightened. ESTABLISH-ING and RATIFYING a fiftem of government, which they have previoully CONSIDERED, EXAMINED and AIPROVED! This is the fpectacle, which we are affembled to celebrate ; and it is the most dignified one that has yet appeared on our globe Numerous and splendid have been the triumphs of conquerors. But from what caules have they originated ----Of what confequences have they been productive? They have generally begun in ambition : they have generally ended in tyranuy. But nothing tyranuical can participate of dignity; and to Freedom's eye, SESOSTRIS himfelf appears contemptible. even when he treads on the necks of kings.

The fenators of Rome, feated on their curule chairs, and furrounded with all their official luftre, were an object much more respectable; and we view, without displeafure, the admiration of those untutored savages, who confidered themas to many gods upon earth. But who were those fenators? They were only a part of a fociety: they were vested only with inferior powers.

What is the object exhibited to our contemplation? A WHOLE PEOPLE exercising its first and greatest power-performing an act of SOVEREIGNTY, ORIGINAL, and UN-LIMITED!

The scene before us is unexampled as well as magnificent. The greatest part of governments have been the deformed offspring of force and fear. With the'e we deign not comparison. But there have been others which have formed bold pretentions to high . er regard. You have heard of SPARTA, of ATHENS and of ROME; you have heard of their admired conftitutions, and of their high-prized freedom. In fancied right of these, they conceived themselves to be elevated above the reft of the human rate, whom they marked with the degrading title of Berbarians. But did they, in all their pomp and pride of liberty, ever furnish, to the altonished world, an exhibition similar to that which we now contemplate? Were their conflitutions framed by those, who were appointed for that purpole, by the people? After they were framed, were they fubmitted to the confideration of the people ? Had the people an opportunity of expressing their fentiments concerning them? Were they to Jand or full by the people's approving or rejecting vote? To all these questions, attentive and impartial history obliges us to answer in the negative. The people were either unfit to be truffed, or their law-givers were two ambitious to truff them.

The far-ramed ellabilifhment of LYCUR-CUS was introduced by deception and fraud. Under the fpecious pretence of confulting the oracle concerning his taws, he prevailed on the SPARTANS to make a temporary experiment of them during his abfence, and to fwear that they would fuffer no alteration of them till his return. Taking a difing nuous advantage of their forapulous regard for their oaths, he preven ed this return by a voluntary death, and, in this manner, endeavoured to fecure a proud immortality to his fyftem.

Even SOLON—the mild and moderating SOLON—fat from confidering himfelf as employed only to prepare further regulations as he thould think belt calculated for promoting the happinels of the commonwealth, made and promulgated his laws with all the haughty airs of abiolute power. On more occasions than one, we find him boafting, with much felf-complacency, of his extreme forbearance and condelection, because he did not establish a disposition in his own favour, and because he did not reduce his equals to the humiliating condition of his flaves.

Did NUMA fubmit his inflitutions to the good fenfe and free involtigation of ROME? They were received in precious commumications from the goddefs EGERIA, with whole prefence and regard he was fupremiely favoured; and they were imposed on the easy faith of the citizens, as the dictates of an infpiration that was divine.

Such, my fellow-citizens, was the origin of the most fplendid establishments that have been hitherto known; and such were the arts, to which they owed their introduction and success.

What a flattering contrast arises from a retrofpect of the scenes which we now commemorule ? Delegates were appointed to deliberate and propose. They met and performed their delegated trust. The refult of their deliberations was laid before the people. It was difeusfied and scrutinized in the fulles, freest and feverest manner-by speaking, by writing and by printing-by individuals and by public bodies-by its friends and by its enemies. What was the issue ? Most favourable and most glorious to the system. In state aiter flate, at time after time, it was ratified -- in some states unanimously-on the whole, by a large and very respectable majority.

It would be improper now to examine its qualities. A decent respect for those who have accepted it, will lead us to prefume that it is worthy of their acceptance. The delibe ate ratifications, which have taken place, at once recommend the fystem, and the people, by whom it has been ratified.

But why, meth nks I hear fome one faywhy is fo much exultation displayed in celebrating this event? We are prepared to give the reafons of our joy. We rejoice, becaule, under this conditution, we hope to fee just government, and to enjoy the bleffings that walk in its train.

Let us begin with PEACE-the mild and modelt harbinger of felicity I How feldom does the amiable wanderer choofe, for her permanent relidence, the habitations of men I In their lyfiems, the fees too many arrangements, civil and ecclefiaftical, inconfiftent wich the calmnefs and benignity of hertemper. In the old world, how many millions of ma do we beaold, unprofitable to fociety, burdenfome to industry, the props of eftablishments that deferve not to be supported, the caufes of distrust in the times of peace, and the inftruments of deffruction in the times of war? Why are they not employed in cultivating ufeful arts and in forwarding public improvements ? Let us indulge the pleafing expectation that fuck will be the operation of government in the UNITED STATES. Why may we not hope, that, difentangled from the intrigues and jealoufies of European politics, and unmolefted with the alarm and folicitude to which thefe intrigues and jealoufies give birth, our councils will be directed to the encouragement, and our firength will be exerted in the cultivation of all the arts of peace?

Of these, the first is ABRICULTURE. This is true in all countries ; in the UNIT-ED STATES, its truth is of peculiar importance. The subfistence of man, the materials of manufactures, the articles of commerce-all fpring originally from the full. On agriculture, therefore, the wealth of nations is found-Whether we confult the observations ed. that reason will suggest, or attend to the information that hiftory will give, we shall, in each cafe, be fatisfied of the influence of government, good or bad, upon the flate of agticulture. In a government, whole maxims are those of oppression, property is infecure. It is given, it is taken away by caprice. Where there is no fecurity for property, there is no encouragement for induffry. Without industry, the richer the foil, the more it abounds with weeds. The evidence" of hiftory warrants the truth of these general remarks. Attend to Greece-and compare her agriculture in ancient and in materia times. THEN, fmiling harvest bore tellimony to the bountiful boons of liberty. Now, the very earth languishes under op--preflion. View the Campania of Rome. How melancholy the prospect! Whichever way you turn your afflicted eyes, scenes of defolation croud before them. Wafte and barrennels appear around you fit all their hideous forms. What is the teafon? With DOUBLE lyranny the land is curled. Open the classic page ; you trace, in chaste de Scription, the beautiful reverle of every th you have feen. Whence proceeds the dif- lightful emotion, let us remember those things terence? When that description was made, which are requisite to give it permanence and the force of liberty pervaded the foil. fability. Shall we lie fupine, and look in

But is agriculture the only art, which feels the influence of government? Over MANUFACTURES and COMMERCE its power is equally prevalent. There the fame caules operate—and there they produce the fame effects. The induffrious village, the bufy sity, the crouded just—all these are the gilts of liberty; and without a good government, liberty cannot exist.

These are advantages, but these are not all the adv of good gesernment .- A riculture, manufactures and commerce will infure to us plenty, convenience and elegance. But is there not fomething still wanting to finish the man? Are internal virtues and accomplishments lefs effimable or lefs attracting than e.e. ternal arts and ornaments? Is the operation of government lefs powerful upon the fermer than upon the latter? By no means. Upon this as upon a preceding topic, reafon and hiftory will concur in their information and advise. In a ferene mind, the sciences and the virtues love to dwell. But can the mind of a man be ferene, when the property, liberty, sublistence of him felf, and of thefe, for whom he feels more than he feels for himfelf, depend on a tyrant's nod. If the difpirited fubject of opprellion can, with difficulty, exert his enfeebled faculties, fofar as to provide, on the inceffant demands of nature, food just enough to lengthen out his wretched existence, can it be expected that, in fuch a flate, he will experience thole fine and v gorous movements, of the foul, without the full and free exercise of which, fcience and virtue will never flow ifh? Look around you to the nations that now exift. View, in hiftoric retrospect, the nations that have herefolore cxifled. The collected refult will be, an entire conviction of these all-Interesting truths-where TY-RANNY reigns, there is the COUNTRY of IG-NORANCE and VICE-where GOOD CO-VERNMENT prevails, there is the COUNTRY of SCIENCE and VIRTUE. Under a good. government, therefore, we mult look for theaccomplified man.

But thall we confine our views even here? While we wilk to be accomplified men and, eitizens, thall we wilk to be nothing more? While we perform our duty, and promote our happinels in this world, thall we befow no regards upon the next? Does no connexion fublish between the two? From this comercion flows the most important of all the bleffings of good government. But here let us paulo-unaffied reafon can guide us no forther-the directs us to that HEAVEN-DESCENDED SCIENCE, by which LIFE and EMMORTALITY have been brought to

May we not new fay, that we have reason the joy ? But while we cherila the delightful emotion, let us remember those things which are requisite to give it permanence and fability. Shall we lie fupine, and look in liftlefs languor, for those bleffings and enjoyments, to which exertion is inteparably attached? If we would be happy, we mult be active. The conflictation and our manners mult mutually fupport and be fupported. Even on this feiturity, it will not be difagreeable or incongruous to review the virtues and manners that both ju/ilfy and adorn it.

And the factor is a second

FRUGALITY and TEMPERANCE first attract our attention. Thefe fimple but powerful virtues are the fole foundation, on which a good government can reft with They were the virtues, which fecurity. nurfed and educated infant ROME, and prepared her for all her greathels. But in the giddy hour of her profperity, flie fpuined from her the obleure initruments, by which it was procured ; and, in their place, fub-Rituted laxary and diffipation. The confe-? quence was fuch as might have been ex-She preferved, for fome time, a: pected. gay and flourishing appearance ; but the mternal health and foundness of her conflitu-g tion were gone. At lait, the fell a victim to the poilonous draughts, which were administered by her perfidious favouries. The fate of Rome, both in her rifing and in her falling flate, will be the fate of every other nation that shall follow both parts of her example.

INDUSTRY appears next among the vir-Idlenefs is the tues of a good citizen. nurfe of villains. The industrious alone; conflitute a nation's ffrength. I will not expatiate on this fruitful fubject. Let one animating reflection fuffice. In a well-confituted commonwealth, the industry of every ci izen extends beyond himfelf. A common interest pervades the fociety. EACH guing from ALL, and ALL gain from EACH. . Ц has often been observed, that the fience flourish all tegether ; the remark applicat equally to the arts.

Your patriotic feelings atteft the truth of what I fay, when, among the virtues ne cellary to merit and preferve the advantage of a good government, I number a uar and uniform ATTACHMENT to LIBERTY and to the CONSTITUTION. The encaniq of liberty are artful and infidious. A count terfeit steals her drefs, imitates her mannen forges her fignature, affumes her name. Бu the real name of the deceiver is licention nefs. Such is her effrontery, that the will charge liberty to her face with impoflure and the will, with thamelels front, infu that herfelf alone is the genuine character, and that herfelf alone is entitled to the refpete Wid which the genuine character deferves. the giddy and undiscerning, on whom deeper impression is made by dauntless in pudence than by modest merit, her pretentions are often successful, She received the honours of liberty, and liberty herfelf i trated as a traitor and an usurper. Generally, however, this bold impostor acts only a fectodary part. Though the alone appear upon the stage, her motions are regulated by dark Ambition, who fits concealed behind the curtain, and who knows that Defpotifm, his other factourite, can always follow the fuccels of Licentious fuels. Against these enemies of liberty, who act in concert, though they appear on opposite fides, the patriot citizen will keep a watchful guard.

A good constitution is the greatest bleffing, which a fociety can enjoy. Need I infer, that it is the duty of every citizen to use his beft and most unremitting endeavours for preferving it pure. healthful and vigorous? For the accomplishment of this great purpole, the exertions of no one citizen are unimportant. Let no one, therefore, harbour, for a moment, the mean idea, that he is and can be of no value to his country : let the contrary manly imprefiion animate Every one can, at many times, his foul. perform, to the flate, ufeful fervices; and he, who steadily purfues the road of patriotifm, has the most inviting prospect of being able, at fome times, to perform eminent ones. Allow me to direct your attention, in a very particular manner, to a momentous part, which, by this conflitution, every citizen will frequently be called to set. Ail thole in places of power and truth will be slefted either immediately by the people, or in fuch a manner that their appointment will depend ultimately on fuch immediate election. All the derivative movements of government must spring from the original movement of the people at large. If to this they give a fufficient 'orce and a just direction, all the others will be governed by its controuling power. To fpeak without a metaphor, if the people, at their elections, take care to choose none but representatives that are wife and good, their reprefentatives will take care, in their turn, to choose or appoint none but such as are wife and goud alfe. The remark applies to every fucceeding election and appointment. Thus the characters proper for public officers will be diffused from the immediate elections of the copie over the remotest parts of administration. Of what immensfe consequence is it, then, that this PRIMARY duy should be faithfully and fulfully discharged! On the faithful and filful discharge of it, the public happinets or infelicity, under this and every other conflicution, must, in a very great measure, depend. For, believe me, no government, even the best, can be happily adminifiered by ignorant or vicious men. You will forgive me, I am fure, for endeavour-ing to imprefs upon your minds, in the frongen meaner, the importance of this great duty. It is the first concellion in po-litics; and if an error is committed Aere, it can never be errelled in any subsequent prefit the antip configu ie muit he difest. Let no one isy, that he is but a fingle citizen; and that his ticket will be but one in the box. That one ticket may turn the election. In battle, every foldior thould confider the public fairty as depending on his fingle arm : at an election, every citizen thould confider the public happings as depending on his fingle unle.

A PROGRESSIVE STATE is neceliary to the happine fe and perfolion of man. Whatever attainments are already reached, attainments fill higher should be purfued. Let us, therefore, strive with noble emulafion. Let us suppoir we have done aching, while any thing yet remains to be done. Let us, with fervent zeal, prefs forward, and make unceaping advances in every thing that can support, IMPROVE, REFINE, OF EMBELLISH fociety. To enter into particulars under each of these heads, and to dilate them according to their importance, would be improper at this time. A few remarks on the last of them, will be congenial with the entertainments of this an-Spicious day.

If we give the flightest attention to NA-TURE, we shall discover, that with utility, the is curious to blend ernament. Can we imitate a better pattern? Public exhibitions have been the favourite anuscements of some of the wifest and most accomplished nations. GREECE, in her most shaning era, confidered her games as far from being the least respectable among her public establishments. The shows of the Grows evince that, on this subject, the sectionents of GREECE were fortified by those of ROME.

Public processions may be so planned and executed as to join both the properties of nature's rule. They may infruit and improve, while they entertain and please. They may point out the elegance or afgiulaess of the feiences and the arts. They may prelerve the memory, and engrave the importance of great political events. They may represent, with peculiar felicity and force, the operation and effects of great political truths. The pictures pue and fplendid decorations around me, surnish the most beautiful and most brilliant proofs, that their remarks are FAR FROM BELNG IMAN

The commencement of our government has been eminently glorious : let our properties every excellence be propertienally growt. It will----it such be fo. What an enroptaring prospect opens on the Userses States! Placid HUSBANDRY walks in front, anothed by the venerable playsk. Lowing having adors our vallies : bleating foots foreit, over our hills : verdant mandowi, while adors our vallies : bleating foots foreit, over our hills : verdant mandowi, while meled pattures, yellow harvels, head orchards, rife in rapid fuccelling fourt. to weft. PLENTY, with herosping foreit, eafy imiling, and, in conferent complexities on presides over the formet.

Martin Marco

and embelighed forms. The rivers, and lakes, and feas, are crouded with thips. Their fhores are covered with cities. The cities are filled with inhabitants. The ARTS, decked with elegante, yet with fimplicity, appear in beautiful variety, and well-adjusted arrangement. Around them are diffused, in rich abundance, the necessaries, the decencies, and the ornaments of life. With heartfelt contentment, INDUSTRY beholds his honeft labours flourishing and fecure. PIACE walks ferene and unalarmed over all the unmoletted regions-while LIBERTY, VIR-TUE, and RELIGION, go hand in hand, harmonioully, protecting, enlivening, and exalwag all! HAPPY COUNTRY! MAY THY RAPPINESS BE PERPETUAL !

The feveral light companies were then drawn off by captain Heyfhain to an eminence nearly oppolite, where they fired a feu-de-joie of three rounds, alfo three vollies, followed by three chears, to tellify their fatisfaction on this joyful occasion.

After the oration, the company went to dinner.

TOASTS.

1. The people of the united flates. 2. Honour and immortality to the members of the late federal convention.

8. General Washington.

4. The king of France.

5. The united aetherlands.

6. The foreign powers in alliance with the united flates.

7. The agriculture, manufactures, and commerce of the united flates.

8. The heroes who have fallen in defence of our liberties.

The military in general, horfe, aftillery and infantry were completely dreffed and accoutred, according to the uniforms of their refpective corps, and made a most martial appearance; being diffributed in various parts of the line, they gave a beautiful variety to the whole, and evinced that both foldiers and citizens united in favour of the new government.

The whole of this vaft body was formed, and the entertainment of the day conducted with a regularity and decorum far beyond all reafonable expetiation. The footways, the windows and roofs of the houfes were crouded with speciators, exhibiting a fpectacle truly magnificent and irreliftably animating. But what was more pleafing to the contemplative mind, univerfal love and harmony prevailed, and every countenance appeared to be the index of a heart glowing with urbanity and rational joy. This pleafing idea was much fupported by a circumitance which probably never before occurred in fuch extent-viz. the clergy of almost every denomination united in charity and brotherly lovemay they and their flocks fo walk through life l

It is impossible to be precise in numbers on fuch an occation; but averaging feveral opinions, there were about five thousand in the line of procellion, and about feventeen thousand on Union Green. The green was entirely cleared by fix o'clock in the evening, and the edifice, thip, and feveral machines being withdrawn, the citizens foberly retired to their respective homes. The weather was remarkably favourable for the feafon-cloudy without rain, and a brilk wind from the fouth during the whole day. At night the fhip Rifing Sun was handfomely illuminated in honour of this great feftival.

Such is the account we have been enabled to give of this memorable exhibition—it is very probable there may be fome omiffions; if fo, the committee can only affure their fellow citizens that no neglect or offence was intended to any individual or company whatever—the flortnefs of the time, and the complicated nature of the talk, they have undertaken, muft be their applogy.

As the lylicm of government (now of much prefent joy, fo may it prove a fource of future blelling to our country, and the glory of our rifing empire.

> Published by order. FRANCÍS HÓPKINSON, Chairman of the committee of arrangement.

OBSERVATIONS ON the FEDERAL PLOCESSION on the FOURTH of TULY, 1788, in the city of PHILADEL-PHIA; in a letter from a gentleman in this city to his friend in a neighbouring fate.

My DEAR FRIEND.

TEREWITH you will receive an ac-I count of our late proceeding in honour of the eftablishment of the Federal Government. It was drawn up by Judge Hopkinfon, a gentleman to whole patriotilm, ingenuity, and taffe, our city is much indebted for the entertaioment.

To this account I cannot hele adding a few facts and remarks that occurred during the day, and which were of too minute or freculative a nature to be introduced in the general account published by order of the committee of arrangement.

The Procession gave universal pleasure. Never upon any occasion during the late war did I fee fuch deep feated juy in every countenance. Foreigaers fpeak of it in the highest terms, and many of them, who have feen the folendid processions of coronations in Europe, declare, that they all yield, in the effect of pleafure, to our hafty exhibition inflituted in honour of our Federal Government.

The connexion of the great event of independence---- the French alliance--- the Peace --- and name of general Wathington, with the adoption of the conflication, was happily calculated to unite the most remarkable transports of the mind which were felt during the war, with the great event of the day, and to produce fuch a tide of joy as has feldom been felt in any age orcountry. Political joy is one of theftrong eft emotions of the human mind. Think then, my friend, from the objects of it which have been mentioned, how powerful must have been its action upon the mind on this occasion.

The first thing that struck me in viewing the procession, was, the occasion of it.

It was not to celebrate a victory obtained in blood over any part of our fellowcreatures .--- No city reduced to after --- no army conquered by capitulation --- no news of faughtered theufands brought the citisens of Philadelphic reguther. It was to velobrate a triangh of knowledge over fully ratified) has been the occasion ignorance, of virtue over vice, and of liberty over flavery. It was to selebrare the birth of a free government, the objects of which were to leffen the number of widows and orphans, by preventing the effusion of human blood; to fave human nature from the difgraces and defolations of war, and to establish and extend the blassings of peace throughout the continent of America.

> The order of the procession was regular. and begat correspondent order in all claffes of fpectators. A folem: filence reignet both in the freets and at the windows of This must be afcribed to the the houses. fublimity of the fight, and the pleafure it excited in every mind; for fublime objefts and intense pleasure never fail of producing filence !

Perhaps a greater number or a greater combination of pathons never feised, at the fame time, upon every faculty of the foul. The patriot enjoyed a complete triumph, whether the objects of his patriotifm were the focurity of liberty, the establishment of law, the protection of manufactures, or the extension of science in his country. The benevolent man faw a precedent effablished for forming free governments in every part of the world. The man of humanity contemplated the end of the diffreffes of his fellow-sitizens in the revival of commerce and agriculture. Even the felas paffions were not idle ... The ambitious man beheld, with pleafure, the bonours that were to be disposed of by the new government, and the man of wealth realized once more the fafety of his bonds and rents, against the inreads of paper money and tender laws, Every perfon felt one of these pations; many more than one, and fome all of them. during the procedion. No wonder then that it gave to much and fuch delicate pleafure. But this was not all. The emblems afforded food for the anderflanding likewife. The hiftory of the most important events of the war, and the inferiptions and devices upon many of the fige gave occasional employment for that noble power of the mind, and added much to the pleafure of the fight. Even the fesses pare took of the entertainment, for the variety of colours difplayed in the various ornaments of the machines and flags, and in the dreffes of the citizens, together with an excellent band of mufic, at once charmed the eyes and ears of the fpectators, and thereby introduced the body to partake, in a ourcel degree, of the feast of the mind.

The effects of the procession, upon the minds and bodies of our citisens, defer to be soliced .---- It forced open an heart, infomuch that many perg ie gee cooling liquors, with which they their fellow citizens as they walked at procession. It likewife isvigors maicies of this body. The t hled at eight o'clock, and were upon fost at the place of parade, and in the preceffion till one. The diffance they marched was three miles, and yet fcarcely a perfon complained of fatigue, altho' there were many old and weakly people in the proceffion. But this fudden excitement of the vigour of the body left a corresponding debility behind it; for I fcarcely met a perfon in the afternoon, that did not complain of fatigue, and difcover a defire to retire to self early in the evening.

It was very remarkable, that every counsenance wore an air of dignity as well as pleafure. Every tradefman's boy in the proceffion formed to confider himfelf as a principal in the bufinefs. Rank for a while forgot all its claims, and Agriculture, Commerce and Manufectures, together with the learned and mechanical Professions, feemed to acknowledge, by their harmony and respect for each other, that they were all necessary to each other, and all ufeful in cultivated fociety. Thefe circumitances difinguished this Procession from the proceffons in Europe, which are commonly infituted in honour of fingle perfons. The military alone partake of the fplendor of fuch exhibitions. Farmers and Tradefmen are either deemed unworthy of fuch connexions, or are introduced like horfes or buildings, only to add to the firangth or length of the procession. Such is the difference between the effects of a republican and monorchial government upon the minds of mon I

I need not fagged to you how much this minture of the mochanical and learned profeffions in a public exhibition is calculated to reader trades of all kinds respectable in our country. Farmers and tradefmen are the pillers of national happiness and profperity. It would form as if heaven flamped a poculiar value upon agriculture and mechanical arts in America, by felecting WASHINGTON and FRANKLIN to be two of the principal agents in the late revolution. The titles of farmer and mechanic, therefore, can never fail of being peculiarly agreeable in the united flates, while gratitude and patrictifm live in American breafts. I will the different trades in Philadelphia may avail themfolves of their late fudden and accidental effociation, and form themselves into diftinct incorporated companies. Many adentance would arife to them from fuch litutions, especially if part of the objects of their union fould be to eftablish a fund r the relief of the infirm or decayed mems of their companies, and of their wire and orphone --- Two and the pence of te, thrown into a sommon fock, ss every minch, would proi unt for all thefe benow Manat in y ni ant a ic. possible to tell how much diffres might, by these means, be prevented, or relieved.

It would give me pleasure to remark upon the effect of every article that composed the procession. But this would lead me far beyond the limits I have prescribed to myself in this letter.

The triumphal car was truly fublime-It was failed above every other object. The Conflication was carried by a great lawofficer, to denote the elevation of the government, and of law and juffice, above every thing elfe in the United States.

The fight of the faip complete in all its parts, moving upon dry land, conveyed emotions to every heart, that cannot be defcribed. She was a fbip of war. I with the procession could have been conducted without blending the emblems of Peace and War together; but this was impofileble, while armies and navies are confidered as necessary appendages of the fovereignty of independent flates. The United States have taught the nations of the world, that is is possible to terminate dif utes by appeals to reason, instead of the sword. I do not despair of this mode of deciding national difputes becoming general, in the courfe of the approaching century. It will be a lefe change in human affairs, than has been produced by reason and religion in the course of the laft two hundred years.

The clean sphir: dreffes of the victuallers and bakers were very happily calculated to excite fuch ideas of their respective arts, as could not fail of being agreeable to every speciator. The two oxen, with their decorations, made a noble figure. They were defined to the flaughter house the next day, for the benefit of the poor ; but fuch was the effect of an agrouble affociation of ideas, that a general outcry was raised, after they had pailed by, against the fate that awaited them. The most trifling object derived a value from being connefted with this delightful and interesting exhibition.

The large flage on which the carding and fpinning machines difplayed the manufactory of GOTTON, was viewed with aftonimment and delight by every spectator. On that fage were carried the emblems of the future weekh and independence of our country. Cotton may be cultivated in the fouthern, and manufactured in the eaftern and middle Aates, in fuch quantities, in a faw years, as to clothe every citizen of the United States. Hence will stife a bond of union to the fater, more powerful than any article of the New Coafficution. Cotton polleties feveral advantages over wool as an article of drefs and presentes. It is not liable to be moth estan, and is proper both for winter and form mer germents, e any moreover he annula n is Anethe impos , 4. s Jah a we hall foon fee cotton not only the uniform of the citizens of America, but an article of exportation to foreign countries. Several respectable gentlemen exhibited a prelude of these events, by appearing in complete fuits of jeans manufactured by the machines that have been mentioned.

The Clergy formed a very agreeable part of the procession .--- They manifested, by their attendance, their fense of the connexion between religion and good government. They amounted to seventeen in number. Four and five of them marched arm in arm with each other, to exemplify the Union. Pains were taken to connect Ministers of the most diffimilar religious principles together, thereby to fhew the influence of a free government in promoting christian charity. The Rabbi of the Jews, locked in the arms of two minifters of the gospel, was a most delightful fight. There could not have been a more happy emblem contrived, of that fection of the new conflictution, which opens all its power and offices alike, not only to every feet of christians, but to worthy men of every religion.

In the courfe of the morning, many speeches were made by different gontlemen, that arole out of the incidents of the proceffion. Mr. P .--- who walked with the faimers, just behind a man who was fowing grain, upon paffing by the lawyers, faid, " we fow, gentlemen, but you reap the fruits of our labours." Upon the procession being detained for a few minutes, by an aceident having happened to the carriage of the black-fmiths' shop, it was faid, " that this was all in order, for it was an emblem of the obfructions and difficulties the confitution had met with in its effeblishment, from the arts of bad, and the ignorance of weak men."

l

The remarks of every man partook more or lefs of his profession, and the constitution received nearly as many new names. as there were occupations in the procession.

The influctors of youth, with a sumerous collection of boys of every fize and age in their train, formed a most agreeable part of the exhibition. A worthy citizen who ferved in feveral battles, during the late war, informed me, that this part of the proceffion affected him to much as to draw tears from his eyes.

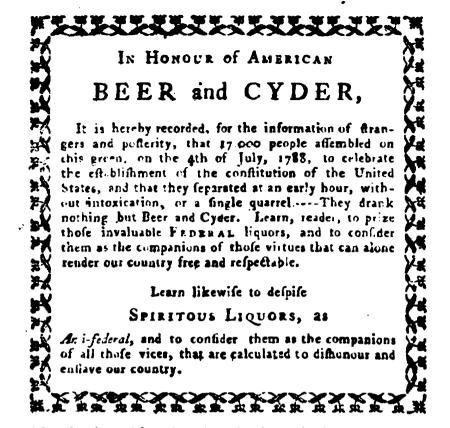

I must not forget to mention that the Weather proved uncommonly favourable to the entertainment. The fun was not to be feen till near two o'clock, at which time the proceffion was over. A pleafant and cooling breeze blew all day from the fouth, and in the evening the fty was illuminated by a boastiful Aurora Boroalis. Under this head an A is equally worthy of as eiscumfiances I cannot help hoping, that the manner in which they were drawn through the fireets, and sotwith@anding the great number of women and children that were affembled on fences, icaffolds and roots of the houses, to fee the procession, no ene accident happened to any body. These circumfrances gave occasion for hundreds to remark, that " Heaven was on the federal fide of the queftion."

> It would be ungrateful not to observe, that there have been lefs equivocal figns in the course of the formation and establifament of this government, of beaven having favoured the federal fide of the quef-The union of twelve flates in the tion. form and of ten flates in the adoption of the Constitution, in less than ten months, under the influence of local prejudices, oppolite interests, popular arts, and even the threats of bold and desperate men, is a for litary event in the hiftory of mankind. I do not believe that the Conflication was the offepring of inspiration, but I am as perfectly fatisfied, that the union of the flates, in its form and adoption, is as much the work of a Divine Providence, as any of the miracles recorded in the Qld and New Testament, were the effects of a divine power.

> 'Tis done! We have become a nation. America has ceased to be the only power in the world, that has derived no benefic from her declaration of independence. We are more than repaid for the diffreffes of the war, and the difappointments of the peace. The torpid refources of our country already differer figns of life and motion. We are no longer the fooff of our enemies. The reign of violence is over. Juftice has descended from heaven to dwell in our land, and ample restitution has at last been made to human nature, by our New Conflictution, for all the injuries the has fuffaived in the old world from arbitrary governments---falle religions---and unlawful commerce.

But I return from this digreffion, to relate one more fact, from which I derived no imail pleafure, or rather triumph, after the procession was over. It is, that out of feventeen thouland people who appeared on the green, and parcook of the collation. there was fcarcely one perfon intoxicated, nor was there a fingle quarrel or even difpute, heard of during the day. All was ender, all was harmony and joy. These delightful fruits of the entertainment are g be afcribed wholly to no liquors bein drank on the green, but BEER and CTBE I with this fact could be published in even language, and circulated theory .... part of the world, where are uled. I will further, that a spent could be erefled of Gezzu, with the fall ., a de la composition de

Since writing the above, I have been informed, that there were two or three perfour intexicated, and feveral quartels on the green, but there is good reason to believe that they were all occanoned by spiritous liquors, which were clandeshinely carried our, and drank by some disaderly people, sontrary to the orders of the day.

I have only to beg jour pardon for the length of this letter, and to affure you of the great segard with which I am your kneere friend and humble fervant,

Philadelphia, 9th july, 1788. To ....., Elizabethtown, New Jersey.

P. S. I had like to have forgotten to inform yop of two important facts that have occurred fince the procession. If. It has been the happy means of uniting all our citizens in the government; and 2d. It has made fuch an imprefilion upon the minds of our young people, that "federal" and " union," have now become part of the "foutheld words" of every family in the city.

A fmall anerdote connected with the effects of the procession, that the ish my postforist.

A worthy German who carried the flandard of one of the trades, when he came home, defined his wife to take case of the flag till the next time he flould be called upon to carry it, " and if I die, (faid he) before I can have that honour again. I define that you would place it in my coffin, and bury it with me."

······●●●●●●●●●●